REPUBLICANS IMPORT MARCHERS IN PARADE

Charles A. Bookwalter Addresses Meeting and Tells Same Old Story.

With bands, banners, automobiles, and fire, and a big hurrah, republicans from Laporte, Elkhart, Michigan City and South Bend, invaded Mishawaka last night and presented a spectacle of such proportions as to put to shame any of the small circuses that come to the city once in a blue moon. Rumely's factory of Laporte sent over a big delegation of its employees, who are anxious no doubt to hold their jobs, while a number of the foremen from the Woolen Co., probably for the same reason, walked in the parade.

Some of the marchers wore masks or had their faces painted so that their identity was lost, while a number of the automobiles had their curtains drawn, giving the impression that the occupants wished to be thought of as participants in a funeral cortege. But, withal, from a spectacular point of view the parade was a success. True, a large proportion of the participants were women and young folks, and they took all the fun out of it they possibly could. Probably a couple of hundred automobiles were in the parade, some privately owned, others rented for the occasion. South Bend republicans were out in force and helped to strain out the line which extended several blocks. The crowds on the streets enjoyed the music, the lights and the bizarre effects of the demonstration which has kept local republicans busy planning for several days. The Woolen, Dodge and Elbel's band supplied the music.

Colored Quartet Entertains.

Charles A. Bookwalter of Indianapolis was the occasion of it all. He spoke to an audience that nearly filled but did not in any way crowd the Century theater which has a capacity of about 700. John Quick, a foreman at the Woolen factory, was in the chair. Among those on the stage were ex-Judge Van Fleet, while the elite colored quartet of South Bend sang several plantation melodies. There were other vaudeville stunts on the program which helped vary the monotony of the proceedings.

Mr. Bookwalter commenced by apologizing for his talk, saying he was not a political spell-binder but did want to prove the falseness of the present administration.

He harped on the free trade bill, claiming that unless Hughes was elected the country would again be thrown into a panic as in the Cleveland administration, when the democratic senate allowed foreign manufacturers to bring their products to America and dispose of them without a protective tariff. "What will happen after the war?" he cried. "This country will be in the direst straits. Men will be out of work. Foreign factories will be under selling American manufacturers. Do we want this? No! Then vote for Hughes." A few toots on the horns and plaudits encouraged him and he switched to the war question.

After twisting the president and his adherents into postures that his hearers could not understand he exclaimed, "Wilson made us hang our heads in shame." To Sec'y of War Baker, he cried "Shame on you for saying that the boys of '76 were in the same class as the Mexican rebels." A couple of lads in the front row bellowed forth "Rah for Washington" and the crowd roared. "I, years ago, was a fireman," he said, in attacking the Adamson eight hour law, "I know that it was not for the benefit of the men the democrats passed that law, but to avert a strike, which would have meant certain defeat this election. The brotherhood have fought for years for this improvement. In passing this bill the democrats have construed the meaning to the laboring people that it will be an eight hour day for all."

He ended by saying that the child labor law affected none of the northern factories, as the republican state legislation of the states had already made laws restricting the employment of minors.

DEMOCRATS TO HAVE BIG ROUSING RALLY

Automobile Parade, Music and Address by W. A. McInerney Will Feature Meeting.

Local democrats will hold an old-time demonstration Saturday night, which it is expected will surpass anything of the kind ever attempted in the city. W. A. McInerney, South Bend, will be the speaker of the evening, and will deliver an address in democratic headquarters, old Methodist building. Previous to the meeting an automobile parade of huge proportions will be held. The Woolen Co. band, Dodge's band and the democratic drum corps will furnish the music for the occasion.

Red fire and suitably inscribed banners will play a prominent part in the parade, which will be made up of Mishawaka voters, it being unnecessary to go out of town for marchers.

Ladies are cordially invited to the meeting and a rare treat is promised them in Mr. McInerney's address.

TEMPLE THEATER TODAY. Cleo Ridgely and Wallace Reid, the two brilliant Lasky stars, who created such a success in "The Golden Chance," "The Love Mask," and "The Selfish Woman," are showing today at the Temple in the Jesse L. Lasky production of "The House of the Golden Windows," L. V. Jefferson's modern version of an old fairy tale prepared for the screen by Charles Sarver. This is a Paramount release.

The scene of the story is laid in the hills of California and the cast supporting the stars consist of James Neill, Michel Van Buren, Florence R. Carpenter, Margery Daw and Little Billy Jacobs.

Harry Watson in "Mishaps of Musty Suffer," is an added attraction.

McTAVISH TO THE FRONT. Sandy McTavish, the Scotch piper who made Mishawaka his home for two years and who recently joined a Canadian contingent, sails for England Friday. REASONS FOR RETURN GIVEN

Mrs. L. Ely, Convinced Tanlac is Helping Her, Obtains Three More Bottles.

"I want three more bottles of Tanlac today and I want to tell you what the first two bottles of Tanlac I bought of you recently accomplished in my case," Mrs. Luana Ely, 59 years old, a well known Mishawaka woman who lives at 215 East Lawrence street, told the Tanlac man at the Red Cross Pharmacy on October 27.

"Rheumatism and stomach trouble have been my twin complaints for years, and my liver also has been out of order for some time," Mrs. Ely continued. "Rheumatic pains in my limbs and back caused me intense suffering and were so severe that I couldn't sleep at night. My appetite was very poor. I almost had to force myself to eat. I usually was constipated. My liver also did not perform its work properly."

"Tanlac appealed to me because others who had tried it recommended it so highly and I decided to give it a trial. The rheumatic pains in my limbs and back that caused such intense suffering before I tried Tanlac, have completely disappeared now. I sleep soundly and peacefully all through the night. My appetite is improved. My liver is in much better condition."

"Tanlac certainly has done me lots of good and I recommend it for others who suffer in my former condition."

"Scores of cases just like that of Mrs. Ely have come under my observation since my arrival in Mishawaka," the Tanlac man, who is meeting the public of Mishawaka at the Red Cross Pharmacy said, yesterday. "I am convinced that there are hundreds of people in Mishawaka at a variety of places who notice a remarkable change in their condition if they would only give Tanlac a trial. Thousands of people have tried Tanlac for stomach, liver and kidney trouble, catarrhal complaints, rheumatism and the like and have derived relief."

Tanlac is now being introduced in Mishawaka at the Red Cross Pharmacy where a special Tanlac representative is explaining the new medicine to the public daily. —Adv.
